

When A Dream Becomes Alive

Christopher C. Payne

A dream becomes alive
When your body goes to sleep
Your soul then leaps out
And wonders upon the streets

Probing into the newest of all
That is within sight, without any doubts
Taken on more prominent heights
Lingering hopelessly within the cosmic mold

Tending to make your dreams a reality
As you have requested so
Feeding into the dimension's of time
Creating newer episodes
That will dazzle your mind

Reluctantly trembling upon the presence
Of another soul
Recapturing acts of defense
When one has lose control

Genetically residing within
Your full state of mind a dream
Then becomes alive for all mankind
